

TURK CAMPAIGN OF ALLIES LOST, SAYS BRITAIN'S WAR OBSERVER

Capt. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, Official Representative At Dardanelles, Asserts Capture of Constantinople Is Impossible

GALLIPOLI TOO STRONGLY DEFENDED, HE DECLARES

Report Recalls Recent Berlin Advances Saying Entente Would Withdraw Forces There Little By Little, Realizing Defeat

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, October 28.—Defeat of the Allies' campaign at the Dardanelles is conceded in dispatches received here from Capt. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, official British press representative on the peninsula of Gallipoli. There is no hope now for the capture of Constantinople by the Gallipoli route, he declares.

Turks Are Too Strong
The Allies are firmly established on the peninsula, Captain Bartlett says, but there is no prospect for further advances, for the Turks are too strong in numbers and are too firmly entrenched. Under German officers the Turks are a worthy foe, the captain says, and the longer the fighting continues the more formidable they become.

Bulgaria Causes Failure
The failure of the campaign, Captain Bartlett asserts, is due to the entry into the war of Bulgaria. Bulgaria's cooperation with the Austro-Germans and the consequent opening of the way to Constantinople via Bulgaria has doomed the hopes of the Allies of reaching the Turk capital through Gallipoli, he adds.

Captain Bartlett declares Britain is in no position to save Serbia this year.

BERLIN REPORTS EARLY WITHDRAWAL
Captain Bartlett's dispatches recall reports sent out about a week ago from Berlin saying the Allies would abandon the Dardanelles campaign. It was said that the Allies entertained no hope, in view of the new complications in the Balkans, of reaching Constantinople via Gallipoli, and consequently had decided to withdraw their forces little by little from the peninsula.

It is thought the Allies may be now transporting troops from the peninsula to Salonika for warfare in the Balkans.

Marquis Lansdowne's statement in the House of Lords on Tuesday that 13,000 British already have been landed at Salonika might be regarded as lending color to this belief.

PROGRESS IS CLAIMED BY GERMANS IN EAST

Teutons Claim To Have Penetrated Russian Dvinsk Position

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, October 28.—Progress is claimed by the Germans in tonight's dispatches received here from the East. The Teutons claim to have penetrated a Russian position near the railroad line north of Dvinsk.

The Riga situation remains unchanged. The Germans continue to stand firm against the Russian offensive.

Hard fighting, but without results for either side, is reported from other regions on the East front.

CHINESE VOTERS TO DECIDE FORM OF GOVERNMENT

General Election Called On Question of Re-establishing Monarchy

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT RECEIVED BY CONSUL HERE

Says People Will Select Convention Which Will Determine Rules

The official announcement of the calling of what is practically a general election in China, for the purpose of selecting delegates to a national constitutional convention, has been received here from the Chinese ministry at Washington by Consul Woolman.

The call is for delegates representing every section of China, including the eighteen provinces of China proper and the outlying districts over which China exercises full or partial authority, such as Inner Mongolia, Tibet and Szechuan. In addition, the Mohammedan tribes, the three divisions of banner men, the commercial organizations and the scholastic class are each to have representation.

Whatever the decision of the convention may be, it will be more nearly the voice of all China than anything yet heard in Peking.

On October 20 the various provinces of China held provincial elections and those elected then are considered to be elected to the national convention.

Official Election Call
The translation of the official statement of the call and the objects of the convention is:

"The attitude of the government toward the question of the form of the state was called to you on the 30th of August."

"Since the Peace Preservation Society initiated the discussion, prominent politicians and military men in Peking gave their full support, the governors general, the governors and the chamber of commerce of the various provinces followed suit and the people of various bodies in different localities have twice presented petitions, numbering altogether eighty-three, to the Council of State, the Acting Li Fa Yuan (legislature) requesting the change of the form of the state."

"The Li Fa Yuan thereupon proposed that the government call the national conference on other steps be taken to meet the people's opinion so as to settle the question fundamentally."

"The government realized that the question should be decided by the national conference."

"Again came the petitions from the citizens' organizations of the various provinces stating that the opening of the national conference will be decided by the people's opinion."

"The Li Fa Yuan observing that the citizens wish the question decided as quickly as possible, considered it expedient to take means to meet the citizen wish that a special and advance conference be held. Whereas the sovereign power of the Republic of China is based on the whole population, the state should be made by the entire population of the country. It was therefore resolved that the name of this conference should be the Congress of the People's Delegates."

"Persons elected at the first election for the national conference are to be the basis for the election of the people's delegates to decide the form of the state. The method of organization such as congress formally passed first on the sixth day and the Li Fa Yuan communicated it to the Government for publication and for operation."

Plan To Be Followed
The main points are as follows:
a. In the provinces, under each special administrative jurisdiction, each district is to send one delegate. There shall be in all 183 delegates.
b. The inner and outer Mongolia.
c. Tibet.
d. Szechuan.
e. Mohammedan Tribes.
f. The eight Manchu Banners, eight Mongol Banners and eight Chinese Banners.
g. Chambers of commerce of the whole country and Chinese residents abroad.
h. Men who have rendered meritorious service to the country.
i. Men who have much learning.

Election Of Delegates
There shall be 183 delegates elected by the eight classes of people as enumerated above. Delegates of each class are to be elected from among those who are successful at the first election in each district for the national conference and also from among those who are eligible to the second election.

"Delegates of the remaining eight classes are to be elected separately at their proper election for the national conference."

"The place of election: Class a to take place in the capital of each province. The rest in Peking."

REDFIELD ACTS FOR HOME TRADE

Purposes Law To Prevent Europe Flooding Country With Cheap Goods

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, October 28.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield conferred with the President yesterday on the methods best to be pursued by the department of commerce in aiding American merchants to take the fullest advantage of the trade opportunities developing through the diversion of European labor and manufacturing energies into the war.

One of the recommendations advanced by Secretary Redfield, which he will ask congress to take up and legislate upon, is for the better protection of the American manufacturer in his home market and for the prevention of American being made the dumping ground for European over-production.

The recommendation of the secretary of commerce will be the enactment of a law prohibiting the sale in the United States of foreign goods at prices lower than the cost of production. He would have such selling legally designated as unfair competition and punishable under the terms of the anti-trust law.

The note of March 30 is practically repeated as a part of the present note. The note is almost identical in its arguments and protests, too, to the one prepared by the then Secretary of State Bryan in June, just before he resigned his final resignation to the President.

The note of March 30 protested not only against the interception of American cargoes on the plea of their ultimate destination, but protested against the British and French blockade of German ports against the non-contraband trade with neutral countries, basing this protest on the ground that the blockade was not effectively maintained when the blockading cruisers maintained their stations far distant from the ports claimed to be blockaded.

In the text of that note, which is now repeated, the American state department wrote:

"It is the expectation of the United States that the government of Great Britain, having considered the possibility that might arise through any serious interruption of the trade of the United States under this order in council, will take such steps as are necessary to avoid them, and, if they occur, will be prepared to make full reparation for each violation of the rights of neutrals which may occur."

"If the course pursued by the government of Great Britain is tainted with illegality, America does not suppose that His Majesty may wish that the same taint is to be attached to his own actions."

The illegality of the German course referred to was the sinking by submarines without warning of the merchant ships trading into British ports in the announced German war zone.

VIGOROUS PROTEST AGAINST BLOCKADE

Washington Asserts Entente Powers Have No Right To Seize Neutral Cargoes

Full Reparation Must Follow All Interruptions of United States Trade

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, October 28.—British interference with the commerce of the United States with the neutral countries of Europe, through the announced blockade to include the seizure as contraband adjudged by the British as intended ultimately to reach Germany or Austria, is protested against in vigorous terms in a ten thousand word note now en route from the state department to Downing street.

The draft of the note was finally approved of on Saturday by the President and was dispatched yesterday.

The contents of the note are not revealed and will not be made public until it is likewise released for publication by the British foreign office, but it is known that the wording of the note dispatched on the same subject on March 30 is practically repeated as a part of the present note.

The note is almost identical in its arguments and protests, too, to the one prepared by the then Secretary of State Bryan in June, just before he resigned his final resignation to the President.

The note of March 30 protested not only against the interception of American cargoes on the plea of their ultimate destination, but protested against the British and French blockade of German ports against the non-contraband trade with neutral countries, basing this protest on the ground that the blockade was not effectively maintained when the blockading cruisers maintained their stations far distant from the ports claimed to be blockaded.

In the text of that note, which is now repeated, the American state department wrote:

"It is the expectation of the United States that the government of Great Britain, having considered the possibility that might arise through any serious interruption of the trade of the United States under this order in council, will take such steps as are necessary to avoid them, and, if they occur, will be prepared to make full reparation for each violation of the rights of neutrals which may occur."

"If the course pursued by the government of Great Britain is tainted with illegality, America does not suppose that His Majesty may wish that the same taint is to be attached to his own actions."

The illegality of the German course referred to was the sinking by submarines without warning of the merchant ships trading into British ports in the announced German war zone.

BELGIANS VICTORIOUS IN AFRICAN WAR ZONE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) HAVRE, October 28.—A Belgian victory over the Germans in Africa is reported by the Belgian minister of colonies.

Advices have been received here—that the temporary capital of Belgium—that the German colonial have been repulsed at two points on the boundary between the Congo Free State (Belgian) and German East Africa.

Heavy engagements have taken place, and the Belgians in repulsing the Germans are said to have captured a number of machine guns, many rifles and much ammunition.

SENSATIONAL TRAIN ROBBERY BY BANDITS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) OKLAHOMA CITY, Oklahoma, October 27.—One of the most sensational robberies in the history of the south-west and a reminder of the "old days" of the border was committed early today when ten bandits held up the south-bound train from Omaha.

They tied the crew to trees, guarded the passengers with leveled guns and looted three express cars. Two safes were broken open. Neither passengers nor mails were molested.

The rear guard of the robbers stopped an approaching freight train and prevented its crew from helping their comrades of the passenger train.

It is believed that the booty secured was insignificant. Posses are hunting for the men and bloodhounds are leading the hunters to the Winding Stair mountains, the haunts of the old and notorious Davis gang.

SEATTLE, October 28.—The local owners of the British tank steamer H. G. Henry were formally notified yesterday that the steamer had been submerged and sunk in the Mediterranean on October 6. At the outbreak of the war the H. G. Henry was commandeered by the British admiralty as a fuel ship. She was attacked by a German submarine two days out from Alexandria, Egypt.

CAVELL CASE CAUSES ATTACK ON WHITLOCK

German Government Brands Minister's Charges As Untrue

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) BRUSSELS, October 28.—Charges made by Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, who is also in charge of British diplomatic interests, that he was not kept informed of the progress of the trial of Edith Cavell, nor apprised until late of her conviction, were branded false in a semi-official statement issued here yesterday.

Edith Cavell is the British nurse who was put to death on the charge of having helped British and Belgian prisoners to escape.

Letters exchanged between the American legation and the German authorities, which were forwarded to London in the report of Mr. Whitlock, as acting British minister, were reproduced in such a way, the statement says, that "important events were inaccurately reported."

It is denied there was any attempt made to keep Mr. Whitlock in the dark on the progress of Miss Cavell's trial.

A number of interesting cases are slated. The land case between Tom Lee and Hee Fat and others is perhaps the most interesting. Other ejectment, assault and battery and criminal cases are among the list to come before Judge L. Dickey.

SEVERAL AUTO MISHAPS OCCUR ON GARDEN ISLE

Several auto accidents have occurred this week on the Garden Island.

Sunday afternoon a car driven by George Melhuze skidded into a ditch near Koloa, although it was not going more than fifteen miles an hour. No one was hurt, but the car was badly damaged. Shortly after it was dragged into the road, a horse being driven in a passing buggy became frightened by it and dashed over a ten foot bank. The buggy was completely smashed, but the passengers received no more serious injury than a ducking in a deep stream below the bank. The horse was cut.

On the Eleka and Hanalei hill a car driven by Alfred Gunes rushed into a stick sticking over the road. The car was badly damaged, but no one was injured.

TROOPS OF VILLA READY TO ATTACK TOWN OF DOUGLAS

American Mining Man Says 'Pancho' Will Attempt To Capture Arizona City

PEOPLE ARE FORTIFYING HOMES AGAINST GREASERS

War Department Rushes Reinforcements To Repulse Any Attack By Greasers

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) DOUGLAS, Arizona, October 28.—General Villa and his 8000 troops will attack and endeavor to capture Douglas in connection with his threatened assault on Agua Prieta, the Mexican town just across the border, according to stories brought here from the other side of the line by an American mining man.

If this is not the general's intention, he is misleading his troops, the mining man says, to spur forward the Agua Prieta attack. Villa's generals are promising their men "all the food and clothing they want when Douglas is captured," he declares.

Douglas In Danger
The mining man says Villa's troops have been brought up to a frenzy of hate against Americans as a result of the talk and that Douglas is in danger the moment the Mexicans get in striking distance of the town.

American forces here are well prepared for an attack, however, and reinforcements are on the way from Fort Bliss. Two regiments of infantry, the Seventh and Twentieth, were ordered to Douglas yesterday from Fort Bliss, Texas.

Residents Fortify Homes
Villa's threatened attack against Douglas has created much excitement. Capture of the town is considered impossible, but "stray" shooting is feared and the residents are hurriedly putting up better plate and all pieces of scrap iron available before their windows and doors in anticipation of firing into the town.

Agua Prieta is being defended by General Calles, the Carranza commander. He has only 3000 men with which to withstand the 800 of his enemy.

BRITISH MINER KIDNAPPED

EL PASO, October 27.—It has been learned here that an armed force of unknown men on October 19 kidnapped E. P. Ayton, a wealthy British mining man, and a priest of Chihuahua. The British consul has notified the state department and the Carranza embassy of the outrage.

NO FUEL FOR VILLISTAS

WASHINGTON, October 27.—The state department is asking the United States railroads not to carry fuel to the enemies of Carranza, in line with its policy of discouraging all other Mexican factions.

SAN FRANCISCO CARRANZA BASE

Advices brought to Honolulu by the last mail say that San Francisco is the center of the final campaign of General Carranza to crush Villa in northern Mexico. Baldomero Almadra, personal representative of Carranza, has opened headquarters in the Palace Hotel and is engaged in purchasing and forwarding to the Constitutional army vast amounts of supplies and munitions. He declares his resources are practically unlimited. Five San Francisco ships have been chartered by Almadra to carry the largest bill of goods ever sent from the United States into Mexico. It includes 30,000,000 rounds of cartridges, many thousands of rifles, blankets, clothing and food supplies. Almadra has exhibited telegrams from Constitutional authorities offering various supplies and telegraphic communications from half a dozen banks on the Pacific coast advising him of large deposits to his credit. He declares that the war will be over in a month.

SEVERAL JAPANESE SLAIN: CHINA FACES NEW CRISIS

(Special Cable to Nippon Jiji.) TOKIO, October 27.—Thirteen Japanese were killed and wounded at Tsing-tai, China, when a number of policemen attacked Japanese merchants in that city.

There have been a number of disturbances in this section between the Japanese and Chinese, and this is the second time Japanese have been killed in race riots. At Mandchou some time ago a number of Japanese were killed. The Japanese government has ordered the Japanese minister at Peking to investigate the cases. He may present a formal protest to the authorities in Peking. There is much excitement in this city as this event may mean another international controversy.

SERBIA DOOMED ON NORTH FRONT BUT ALLIES MAY WIN BULGAR SOIL

Austro-Germans Push Invasion In Belgrade-Shabats District. And Link Forces With Balkan Ally On Danube Near Border

LLOYD-GEORGE ASSERTS GREECE IS AIDING SERBS

Entente Unable To Divert Troops From East and West Because Enemy Is Renewing Activity And Making Course Impossible

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, October 28.—The position of Serbia grows more desperate each hour, but hope has not been abandoned entirely, for there are reasons to believe that the enemy in the Balkans will suffer heavily yet.

It is feared and openly admitted that Serbia may be doomed in the north, but in the south it is believed Bulgaria may be robbed of her Macedonian territory if the Anglo-French expedition from Salonika arrives in time to reinforce the Serbs before they lose their present advantage in this district. Some French regiments are reported to have reached the Serbs here already.

The only gain for the Allies yesterday was in the reconquest of Velez, which they captured the day before. The reconquest is reported in a despatch from Athens.

Push Invasion In North
In the north the Serb resistance was worn down considerably. The town of Obrenovar, which is on the border midway between Belgrade and Shabats, is reported to have been taken by the Austro-Germans, and the Serbs are said to have been driven from Klissura Narrows, in the same region.

Further south, near the junction of the boundaries of Austria, Serbia and Montenegro, the Austro-Germans, striking from Visegrad, in Bosnia, drove the Serbs back further. At Valjevo, midway between this district and Belgrade, but quite a distance in from the border, the Serbs are facing a desperate engagement. The enemy is reported to be marching rapidly on this town.

Says Greece Is Aiding Serbs
Replying to questions in the House of Commons yesterday David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, said that British troops are now cooperating with those of France and Greece on the Serbian border. The minister's mention of Greece has served to relieve much apprehension over that nation's course, for it is believed if Greece is aiding the Allies to any extent, no matter how small, it disposes of her as a possible Teutonic ally.

In this connection the relief of Serbia has become a more serious question than before. It is now stated that the renewed activity of the enemy on all fronts has made impossible any diversions of troops to send to Serbia's relief.

An Athens despatch last night said a military conspiracy against King Ferdinand of Bulgaria had been uncovered. The leaders in the plot have been shot.

DESIGNER OF SUBMARINE F-4 EXPLAINS DISASTER

Believes Ballast Tank Air Valves Were Left Open

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, October 28.—Henry Carse, president of the Electric Boat Company, who designed the submarine F-4, lost at Honolulu, made public a statement yesterday giving his explanation of the disaster.

The sinking was caused by the leaving open of the air valves to the ballast tank, Mr. Carse declares.

"I have no intention to cast reflection upon the ability of the unfortunate men who lost their lives in the F-4," the statement reads, "but the fact remains that the leaving open of the ballast tank air valves must not be overlooked in probing for the cause of the disaster."

EIGHT HUNDRED PERSONS INJURED IN BIG TYPHOON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) MANILA, October 27.—The typhoon which killed more than one hundred persons in Tabaco, Southeast Luzon, and destroyed many buildings, don't death to twenty-five others in the vicinity and injured all told 800 persons. Part of the crater of Mount Mayon was carried away by the typhoon. The landslide that followed wrought havoc to crops around the slopes of the mountain. The damage is estimated at $1,000,000.
